

2025 DSI Annual Pedagogy Conference
Innovating Business Education: Tomorrow's Trends and Technologies
June 10-11, 2025 Virtual Conference
Call for Abstracts and Short Papers

The 2nd Annual Pedagogy Conference of the Decision Sciences Institute (DSI) is themed Innovating Business Education: Tomorrow's Trends and Technologies to point us towards evolving methods, tools, and delivery modes that will serve the decision sciences disciplines for the next ten years and beyond.

We are excited to offer you two keynote speakers from industry to share their insights on current and future looking states of practice. The conference will feature panels exploring topics on trends in higher education and innovation, global educator experiences, and outstanding educator practices as well as featured sessions for Data, Analytics and Statistics Instruction (DASI), Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SOTAL) and cutting-edge innovation labs.

Accepting pedagogical abstracts and short papers for peer-review December 2, 2024 – March 15, 2025.

It will be a great opportunity to once again see familiar faces and to meet DSI's many new members. We look forward to sharing thought-provoking conversations, making new connections, exploring exciting innovations, and in general, opening up to the future of the decision sciences education.

We encourage submissions on a wide range of topics, including:

- Case studies
- Teaching activities and games
- Conceptual and pedagogical research
- Ethical and responsible use of AI and other tools
- Teaching AI and other emerging technologies
- Curricular and program issues
- Diversity, Equity & Inclusion and Student Belonging

DSI is using Oxford Abstracts for this event. Please visit our conference website for submission instructions and more information. Ready to submit now? Click here. Or visit the conference website for additional details and to download the short paper template.

Deadline for submissions: March 15, 2025

Please share this invitation with friends and colleagues. We look forward to seeing you there!

Your 2025 DSI Pedagogy Conference Team